Generate your Noble Cause: Empowerment Through Purpose

OUR PURPOSE

to cause leadership for a transformed world, empowering individuals, and organizations to create unstoppable performance.

Worksheets

1. Your personal Survival Mode (Three column exercise)
2. Survey of your Co-Creation – mapping your life and relationships
3. Revealing your Noble Cause by answering “what pisses me off?”
4. Start to say what the world looks like when that’s fixed? And what are you going to do to get started?

Context of Survival

“They’re the problem. And I’m on my own”

Default Thinking

(How must you be thinking, in the moment, such that you continue to take that action when you already know it won’t work...)

Ineffective Actions or Inactions

(Things you’ve tried more than once and don’t have the result you want. Which actions can you see actually perpetuate one or more of the results you don’t want...)

Circumstances and Results

(Stuff you don’t like and seem to keep getting more of...)

Co-creation Worksheet

Creation	In what areas of life and relationship do you experience “They don’t get it”?	In what areas of life and relationship do you experience “Anything is possible”?
Making It	In what areas of life and relationship do you experience “I don’t belong and I can’t win”?	In what areas of life and relationship do you experience “I’m better than you”?
Survival	Dependent	Independent Interdependent

Answer these questions for yourself to start revealing your Noble Cause

- What are you angry about in the world? In your community? In your industry
- How would you fix that, so that it would make a difference for you and for other people?
- Why is that important to you?
- If that got fixed, what becomes available...What now becomes possible that wasn't possible?
- How big would you have to take that such that it demanded partnership to get it done? At the level of team? Organization? Community? Industry? Society?

Start to say what the world will look like when your Noble Cause is being fulfilled

- What's your passion? What excites you? What pisses you off?
  - If what pisses you off disappeared in the world and what excites you got fulfilled, what would the world look like? What would people be doing and saying? What results would you see being accomplished? What measurements would tell you those results were foundationally successful? What measurements would tell you those results were sustainable, noble, and interdependent?
- Design Future– what are you going to do and how are you going to measure it? Who will you enlist to break through the Independence barrier together?
